about us

hello! we are a family run business that turned a love for rooibos tea into a sustainable tea company. We take pride in the ways we've learned to reduce our environmental impact, being fair trade certified, and the unique flavors of rooibos tea we've created and love.

Our tea is organically grown in South Africa by equitably employed farmers who have been growing rooibos for generations.

Our tea bags are plastic-free and fully compostable. We always try to make environmentally responsible choices with the production materials used.

Our tea flavors are well-tested in terms of taste and experience, and the additional ingredients found in our tea blends are all locally sourced.
